Annabell is a 15-year-old girl from Langsdorf, Germany. It is a small village, with approximately 1500 inhabitants, near Giessen. She lives with her mom, dad and younger sister Tessa. Annabell has responsibilities at home such as emptying the dishwasher and caring for your younger sister. She describes herself as an open-minded person with a strong, confident personality. During her free time, she enjoys hanging out with her friends, shopping, going to movies and watching football games. Annabell enjoys playing football, flag-football and volleyball. She often practices about 2-3 times per week. In school she enjoys learning about the English language, History, Politics and playing sports.

Her teachers describe Annabell as respectful to all individuals, focused in school and hardworking. Her classmates have much respect for her and value her opinions. Annabell is very committed to school and studies very hard for tests and exams. She even took on learning Spanish voluntarily. She communicates very well and is cooperative. Annabell has a strong interest in understanding connections on a deeper level. She asks great questions that often lead to advancement in lessons.

Annabell is looking forward to studying in the US and meeting new people. She is looking forward to experiencing what it is like to be a "normal" American student. Learning about American culture and how people in America live is very important to her. One day she hopes to become a professional Flag-football athlete and compete in the 2028 Olympics. She believes her experience as an exchange student can help her become ready for a bright future and all that she wants to accomplish in life(which may include a profession in either international sales, law or coaching).
